An independent scientific journal
for interdisciplinary research in pedagogy

The peer-reviewed journal e-PEDAGOGIUM has been published by the Faculty of Education, Palacký University in Olomouc since 2001. It is a quarterly focusing on interdisciplinary research in educational sciences published in two issues in the Czech/Slovak language and two issues in the English language. The journal is focused mainly on school and social education, theory and philosophy of education, special education, pedagogical psychology and subject didactics.

Original works by both Czech and foreign authors – theoretical papers, reviews, methodological and empirical studies, reviews of specialist publications as well as short specialist statements are also published.

Besides ensuring the required quality of published texts, the task of the journal editorial board is also creating a platform for scientific discussion and sharing of knowledge in the field of pedagogical research for specialists, namely with interdisciplinary outreach to the area of social and natural sciences.

The deadlines for the issues published in the Czech language are January 5th and June 30th; for the issues published in the English language March 31st and September 30th.